

Alsatian dialect theatre with LARC de Beinheim

Since the beginning of the 1990s, Durmersheim has been host to theatre performances every year by the amateur theatre group LARC de Beinheim ("Loisir, Animation, Rencontre, Culture" [L.A.R.C.] est la troupe de Théâtre Alsacien de BEINHEIM) from neighbouring Alsace in the Alsatian dialect.

In Alsace, too, the dialect has to fight for survival. With its performances in many communities in northern Alsace, LARC wants to contribute to the preservation of this old cultural asset "Alsatian Dytsch". Since there is also a lot in agreement with our dialect, there are virtually no communication problems for the Baden theatre audience.

It is both worth mentioning and praising that LARC donates the proceeds from its annual theatre tour to social causes.

Over the years, LARC has developed a close relationship with the AKH. Mutual visits have become a matter of course. The cooperation is characterised by family ties.